

School Data Analysis

We have greatly improved on the Mi-Access scores. I credit this to additional training offered to staff and also how we are assessing our students. The teaching staff has also changed (We had 6 staff members retire last year). The new staff is very serious about assessments, data, and new ideas that could improve student achievement.

The challenge for our building is meeting curriculum, state standards while still examining the ongoing medical, and behavioral needs of our students.